

CALL FOR STEERING COMMITTEE MEMBERS!

Food For All NB is our provincial food security network that envisions a New Brunswick that is informed, connected and engaged in food security for all.

The network is guided by the mission to provide leadership in the advancement of food security in New Brunswick through networking, knowledge and information sharing, and public relations and building partnerships.

Food For All NB is seeking committed and strategic leaders that support governance of Food For All NB as volunteer members of its Steering Committee (SC). The SC is responsible for the organization's success, strategic direction, and ensuring long-term sustainability. SC members provide guidance and support to the Network Director on financial management, communications, event planning, network support, fundraising, and human resources.

We are seeking up to three (3) strategic, innovative, team-oriented members with an interest in Food For All NB's vision and mission. We're excited to welcome individuals who will approach this position with a high degree of initiative and that will demonstrate an overall drive to build lasting success for the organization.

To create a well-balanced and cross-sectoral committee, we are currently seeking members that work in non-government departments or groups (non-profit, and the business sector) with priority given to First Nations, Acadian, and newcomer representation. Geographical locations will also be considered with priority given to those located or experience working the North West, Restigouche, Fundy, South East and Western Valley areas. Other assets include proven leadership skills, experience as a steering committee or board member, and a commitment to advancing food security in the province.

Additional qualifications include savvy diplomacy skills and a natural affinity for convening, facilitating, and building consensus among diverse individuals. This role requires a commitment of approximately five hours per month.
